Tuesday

Dear Rusty;
You have your little boy back by now I guess and I know how glad you were to see him. He wrote me a card and I was so thrilled.
Did you have a nice trip up to get him? Maybe it was cool in the mountains. It has been awfully hot here and we keep having thunderstorms. You mentioned having so much rain last week. That must have been the day they had six inches in Raleigh in just a few hours.
Everything was flooded and some of the highways closed.

Garland came in this morning at five thirty and went to bed. He got up about twelve and had breakfast. He went to get gas and on up to the play boy club. Gas gave out here last week but Carl got some in today. We have been able to get plenty so far.

We had this terrible tragedy here Saturday morning. I had never seen the new police but they said he was real nice. I'm sending clippings. That is all I know about it. He has three small children.

Brenda said she would like to read the Immune book and I told her I was sure it would be O.K. with you. So if you are not in a hurry to get it back see let her have it. Billy Howerton was mowing the yard next door this morning. I went over and asked him about Jimmy. He said they went to see him Sunday and he was well satisfied and seemed to be getting along fine. Jim still having calls for the house, Billy said he hadn't heard anything about their moving. They think he will respond to treatment and be home before too long. I have to go to the grocery store this afternoon and I think it is coming a storm now. Garland is back and went on the board at twelve o'clock.

Guess I'll spend the month alone. I'll celebrate by going down to the mall and getting an ice cream cone. Does that sound like a fun thing to do? We are not having a celebration here this year but I see Whitsett has one advertised. I don't care to go over there.

I'll close for now. Write and come when you can. I enjoyed your nice long letter.

Love to all,

Mother
